(Portland, OR) For the seventh year in a row, AngelVision Technologies has been named to the Inc. Magazine list of the 5,000 fastest-growing, privately held companies in the U.S. AngelVision is a leading provider of sales videos and marketing tools.

“Our success is the result of mutual dedication and cooperation between us and our customers,” said Founder and CEO Michael Jingoian. “We never settle for just ‘good enough.’ We’re constantly evaluating the effectiveness of our processes and measuring the effectiveness of our customer’s results.”

Jingoian also tributes AngelVision’s continued growth to superior messaging based on the principles of storytelling, solution selling and Neuromarketing. This is in contrast with most other marketing firms that embrace just one model or philosophy. AngelVision utilizes a combination of tools to connect with and educate their client’s target audience.
